

YOUNG, YOUNG LADIES

Will Link

PEOPLE TELL YOU NOT TO LOOK FOR LOVE. They say, “When you stop looking for it, it will find you.” These people... are assholes.

Most of these assholes are also in long-standing relationships. What they don’t remember is that dating is hard. That’s why I have always taken the opposite approach to love. Don’t wait for the time to be right. Don’t wait until you have money to take her out with or a job you’re actually happy with or until you’ve moved out of your parents’ basement in Lake Ronkonkoma, Long Island. These things will never happen anyway. So I say you should be willing to completely and utterly give your heart over to literally anyone you meet at any given time.

Now, I know what you’re thinking: This sounds like the horrible advice of a sad, desperate man. But think
