WHERE:          Hough's Taproom and Brewpub, 563 Greenfield Avenue, Pittsburgh (Greenfield)

WHEN:          Tuesday, May 27, 6-7:30 p.m.

WHY:           8 authors will be on hand to sign books and talk with the public and media about the sons-of-guns that changed their lives

DETAILS:       Brandt Street Press, a Squirrel Hill publisher that specializes in making history fun, has just released Dammit, I Learned a Lot from That Son-of-a-Gun. The editors solicited personal stories from authors who come from a wide variety of vocations—musicians, health care professionals, teachers, editors, IT managers, university administrators. Most are from Pittsburgh, but others hail from the Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago and Boston areas. Every son-of-a-gun in the book is different but recognizable. Readers will relate intimately to the life-altering lessons they taught.

Authors expected to attend the Book Launch Event are: Mike Connell, Katherine Gross, Douglas Gwilym, Anita Kulina, Laura Lind, Cindy McKay, Judi Resick-Csokai and Scott Bradley Smith.
